Abstract

© Journal of Language and Literature. There are two fundamentally different schools of limit search for the all, named the "School of Origin" and the "School of Being", on the surface. Rooting of the human metaphysics predominantly in the "School of Origin" has caused the emergence of the phenomenon of the repressive man, who is unable to perceive the voice of Being. We have recognized the need of "ontological vaccination" to the human metaphysics for promotion of building not a disjunctive but a conjunctive link between the social and the human.
